LINDE WILL NOT AND COX NOT READY

No Testimony of a Satisfactory Kind is Given - Revs. Irvine and Powell Disposed to Go Into Generalities-Posting the County Attorney.

Great developments were anticipated by the many who elbowed one another in the room of the Board of Fire and Police Com missioners last night.

Ex-Policeman Cox had promised to testify to the dark doings of the police department which had come under his notice while he was a policeman. Another ex-officer, George Linde, was also to have been on hand with charges against Chief Seavey, and Rev. Alexander Irvine and Rev. G. J. Powell had promised to tell all they had learned during their nocturnal peregrinations in the burn district in search of evidence for the grant

Cox, however, did not appear. He was not ready with his witnesses. Linde did not come, either, but the following note was read to explain his absence:

"To the Honorable Police Commissioners; shall not appear against Chief Seavey, therefore you will kindly excuse me."
This and the fact that Commissioner Coburhad not appeared made it doubtful whether r not the investigation would be held at all last night, but a messenger who had been sent to Mr. Coburn's house having reported him as being out of town it was determined to proceed without him.

IRVINE WOULD NOT TELL. Rev. Alexander Irvine, upon invitation ex tended by Mr. Strickler, was sworn and de-scribed substantially what he and Rev. Greg ory J. Powell had witnessed on Ninth street ne night in the latter part of February, to the effect that the two clergymen had seen two men thrown out of a resort there by Offi-cer Fiske, who returned to the house and remained there a considerable time.

"We are," said Mr. Irvine, "in a peculiar position in this investigation, for we do not pretend to implicate Chief Seavey. I am under the impression, however, that this offi-cer, Fiske, whom I had never seen before, is a connecting link between the higher authorities of the police department and the denizens of the burnt district. I do not want to be understood as making any dir c charges against the chief, and I might add that I be-lieve that this investigation is an immense farce. This unfortunate officer, according to my mind, was simply following his orders. If he did not follow them some other one of the force would have done it."

"But," said Mr. Smith, "Seavey is not alone under investigation; if you have anything against any one in any way connected with the department we want to hear it; we are investigating the whole department." "No," replied Mr. Irvine, "I have no spe-cific charges which I desire to make public. but I have this much to say, that the system followed by the department here gives a great deal of leeway for exacting blackmail from prostitutes. I endorse most heartly the resolution at present before this board or the suppression of the social evil."

Mr. Irvine then, being cross-questioned by Mr. Strickler, went over the details of the incident on Ninth street, which, however, differed very materially from the story related by him on Monday night in regard to the time that the officer remained in the house after the men had been ejected. On Monday night he said he believed about half an hour elapsed between the time the men were ejected and the reappearance of the officer. Last night he was not positive that it was even five minutes. He admitted that all he knew of what had occurred inside of the house was gleaned from the rambling fale told by the two ejected men. They did not charge any rough treatment, and he did not pretend to say that there was any, nor did he believe that the officer took any of the money collected.

"So, as a matter of fact," said Commistestimony is upon hearsay evidence, that is, upon what these two men told you?"

"Yes, sir; I must admit it is upon that in ormation." "New," continued Hartman, "you have in timated that you were, or are, after some one other and above the patrolman mentioned.

Now, let us know who this is or what you meant by this remark?" AFTER BIGGER FISH. "We are not after any particular police-man, nor are we after the suppression of vice in any particular district; we are engaged in a war on vice in general." "But you have said that you believed this officer to be a connecting link between the vice of Ninth street and that of the police department; now, what evidence have you to warrant this broad assertion? We are after this very link." "I have nothing but my impressions," an swered Mr. Irvine. "You reported all of this matter to the grand jury, did you not, and it found no in-dictments?" "I reported it, but do not know whether ont any indictments were found." Mr. Mahoney, who represents Chief Seavey here asked: "How long did the officer you have mentioned remain in the house the men were ejected, as you say?" "Something over two minutes." Mr. Mahoney—Have you any information for your belief that some of the higher au thorities of the force are in league with vic in this city?

Mr. Irvine—I have my impressions and other information. Mr. Mahoney—Why have you said that you delieved this investigation would be a farce Mr. Irvine-It is my opinion, but it is no cessarily based on facts.
"Do you doubt the integrity of thi board?" here interposed Mayor Bemis.

"That is a question," replied Mr. Irvine. "that I do not care to answer."
"Have you any proofs that there is corruption in this board?" insisted Mr. Mahoney. resuming the cross-examination. "Are there any facts which would indicate such a state of affairs of which you are in possession?"
"I refuse to answer," again was the reply

"Is it because you know nothing, or cause you do not care to testify to what "There are many things regarding which do not care to speak before this board. have nothing further to say."

"But," said Mr. Mahoney, "you have men-tioned this officer or this incident as the connecting link in a line of corruption; now why do you presume that there is really corruption among the higher officials of the department?"
"Because wherever I have been this kind of correction exists, and the police in the New York penitentiary case are living witnesses to the fact."

"Still you have no evidence that such state of affairs exists in Omaha, have you

"No; I do not think I have," answered the witness, who then retired. REV. G. J. POWELL'S TESTIMONY. Rev. G. J. Powell corroborated Mr. Irvine's testimony regarding the Ninth street in cident, and concluding, said:

scattered over the city or bunched in one district?" asked Mr. Smith. "None whatever," was the answer. "What I want to protest against is our system of half license. In this either the legislature is wrong or the city is wrong. They are diametrically opposed under the present plan. We are accommodating ourselves to the viciousness of human nature. These houses are mere schools of immorality, where the merest boy can learn his first lesson in vice." Joe Frey, one of the men whom the two reverend gentlemen had reported to have seen ejected from the house on Ninth street, testified, and corroborated the testimony before given, and justified Officer Fiske in everything he did, and denying that he or his companion was ejected. He said the two clergymen represented themselves as reporters of the World-Herald, and he and his friend had told them the truth.

He did not know whether the parties had licenses or not. He had not reported that he had gone into the house, as he did not think it necessary, having overlooked the rule regarding the matter.

This ended the testimony on the Ninth street incident. J. M. Munsky testified as promised regarding certain remarks made by Chief Seavey to him at the police sale of unclaimed goods at the police station about three weeks ago. He alleged that Seavey made use of the exression: "I know who you are, Jerusalem have your name down stairs with the rest them. The use of the expression was practically

After accepting the resignation of Officer Andrew Haze, the board went into executive session, where it was dicided to call the attention of the county attorney to the fact that a house of prostitution, according to the testimony of Revs. A. F. Irvine and G. J. Powell and Officer Fiske, Joseph Frey and William McCaffrey, was selling liquor with-Keep your blood pure and healthy and you

CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS. Prince and Jacobsen Implore that They Bo Cleared from "Odium."

Among the communications considered by the city council at an adjourned meeting last night was a request from Councilmen Prince and Jacobsen of the committee on fire and water to be cleared from the "odium" which attached to the council on account of its refusal to pay the disputed bills of the American Water Works company. In explanation they submitted a statement that the Phoenix Foundry company had been obliged to shut down on account of the canceling of orders for new material by the water works company. They argued that the council had refused to pay the bills. Consequently the water company had determined to abandon its contemplated improvements. The foundry lost its contract and its employes were out of a job. For all this the council was to blame. On these grounds they wanted the council to either pay the claim of the water company or else relieve the petitioners rom all responsibility. The petition was reerred to the finance committee. Superintendent Hunt of the water works company presented a communication urging the council to institute an investigation into condition of the siphon tanks used for flushing the sewers of the city. There are 300 of these tanks, and in Mr. Hunt's opinion they should use but 1,200 gallons of water each per day. But he declares that 200 of these tanks are defective and use 14,400 gallons a day. On this basis he figures that the water works company loses $722 per tank in a year, or nearly $150,000 altogether. The natter will be looked up by the committee on fire and water. Mr. J. N. Wise will be retained to put in sixty days of additional work on the tax lists. It is claimed that there are a number of omissions in the returns of the assessors and these will be investigated. The council voted to allow Mrs. Harriet Lyman $50 for her claim for damages on account of injuries received by a fall on the sidewalk. Her original claim was for $5,000. The Board of Public Works was directed to cause the removal of an obstruction at Eighteenth and Manderson streets. The obstruction consists of a small shanty which stands in the street just south of the fair grounds. Its occupants have successfully re-

tures in the sewer department to $400 a month, except in cases of emergency, was month, except in cases of emergency, was lost by a tie vote. It was claimed that the ount was insufficient. Among the new ordinances was a new Board of Health ordinance by Taylor. It was similar to the one recently passed, except that it designated the maximum salaries to be pald instead of naming the exact figures. It was referred to the finance committee. ## NOT IN LOVE WITH HIS WIFE

Mounted Patrolman Haze Makes His Leave of Absence Very Indefinits.

PROPOSES TO STAY AWAY FROM OMAHA

Reported that a Railroad Man's Wife Will Join Him Soon - Abandons a Wife and Five Children-What Mrs. Have Has to Say.

Andy Haze, a mounted patrolman, has severed his connection with the police force of this city. He came to Omaha a number of years ago and obtained a position on the The use of the expression was practically admitted, but it was made during the hurry of the auction when Munsky had repeatedly broken the rules regarding bids. His name was down stairs, as a matter of fact, as few duys ago. At the first meeting of the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners this month he was granted a five days' leave of absence, explaining that he wanted to visit his parents, who reside at Pella, Ia. Selling his horse and hypothecating his salary with a short time loan man, he bade adieu to his wife and five children and turned his back upon Omaha. Nothing was thought of his absence until a couple of days ago, although it was known that he had stayed away longer than his leave provided for. About this time ugly stories commenced to float through the air, to the effect that there was a woman in the case, and that Andy did not intend to return. Yesterday it became apparent to the mind of Chief Seavey that Haze had gone to stay, for one of the mails from Chicago brought a letter from Haze, together with his resignation and his star.

A household in the confusion incidental to moving, a deserted wife in tears, with two little children clinging to her dress, a sympathetic neighbor holding another child in her arms, and two half-grown boys staring despondently at a lamp, was the picture that greeted a reporter at 2512 Harney street last night, when he called to interview Mrs. Andrew Haze.

Mrs. Haze did not care to talk much about the affair, but finally she said: "Yes, it is true that my busband has left me penniless and with no source of revenue except the combined earnings of my young sons, which aggregate $30 per month. My husband has left me with five children, the oldest being 15 years of age. I have been in poor health for several weeks. Mr. Haze has written me three letters since he went away, the last one being from Chicago, but he offers no explanation of his strange conduct. There explanation of his strange conduct. There was no quarreling between us, and our domestic relations were agreeable, as I supposed, until lately, when I had reason to believe that there was a woman in the case. Now that is all I care to say on that particular subject. He has left me in bad shape, without a cent. I am not in the best of health, either, and this almost drives me frantic. He went away on a visit to lowe and had permission to stay fifteen days, so I did not realize until a day or so ago that I had been descried. I believe Andy has been led astray."

The two boys of Mrs. Haze are manly young fellows. One of them carns $3.50 per week, and he says he will give it all to his mother to help take care of her and his little sisters and brothers. The other lad, who also earns a small salary, shares the same sentiment. The total earnings, however, are only $30 per month for a family of six. Mrs. Haze will give up her house today and remove to 1619 Castellar street. Some of the people residing in the vicinity of the deserted home say that a married

WILL NOT BOTHER HIM. Ceserted Wife Will Wait Until Her Unfaithful Spouse is l'enniless. Fritz Peterson, agent for the bottling department of the Omaha Brewing association, deserted his wife and three children last Monday and eloped with Lottie Forgrave, an inmate of a palace of sin at 114 South

Ninth street. Peterson was formerly the proprietor of a meat market at Seventeenth and Clark streets for about two years, selling out three months ago. Since that time he has been in the bottling business and his work as agent took him to the "burnt" district each day, where he became acquainted with the Forgrave woman. Peterson left his home, 1440 Sherman avenue, last Saturday night, and has not been seen by his wife since that time. When he left he stated he was going to a meeting down town, but it was learned he went to see the Forgrave woman instead. On Monday he sent a note to his wife asking her to meet him at the Boston store at 3 o'clock. The wife went to the appointed place, but Peterson failed to show up, and instead went to the German

Savings bank and drew out $300 of the $370 he had on deposit and bought tickets to Kansas City for himself and paramour and the two started on the evening train.

As soon as Mrs. Peterson learned of the escapades of her husband she went to the bank and stopped the payment of any more money to her husband, and at the bottling works, where he was interested to the extent of about $600, she had matters fixed so that he could not dispose of his interests. Mrs. Peterson stated that she would not bother her husband and would let him go till he got tired and out of money, when she would

It Was Danish Night. It was very apparent that last night was Danish night at the Young Men's Christian association auditorium. "Den Sidste Parade" was recited by Mr. Enkeboll, who was greeted by merited applause. A vocal solo, "Droams," sung very sweetly by Miss Melanie Mathiesen, elicited an encore, and Mr. Sophus E. Neble of the Danske Pioneer made a few remarks on "Danish Americans." Mrs. Ryan sang a fetching ballad, "Merrity I Roam." which was greeted with applause, and Mr. Frank W. Ober, the secretary of the Young Men's Christian association, delivered an address. The enjoyable entertainment was closed by the Scandinavian Glee club singing "America," the entire audience participating.
